

List of Articles Citing the Let Me Learn Process

- Addy, L. (1996). Challenging the assumptions: The motivation and learning of children who have developmental coordination disorder. Paper presented at the annual meeting of the American Educational Research Association, New York.
- Borg, C. & C. Calleja. (2006). Using Technical and Confluent Patterns first: A recipe for Underachievement? In Understanding Children and Youth at Risk. Ed. By C. Borg and C. Calleja. Media Centre Publications, Mlt.
- Buchanan, P. (2005). "Leadership and Learning," Annual Conference of the Society of Women Engineers, Los Angeles, CA, November 11.
- Calleja, N. (1998). Listening to the Learner: Learner's Characteristics to Shape Whole School Reform. Unpublished M.Ed. thesis, Faculty of Education, University of Malta.
- Campbell, N. (2005). "Putting Learning to Work," Annual Conference of the Society of Women Engineers, Los Angeles, CA, November 3.
- Henry, J. (2003). Learning to modify teaching strategies to better meet needs of student learning patterns. Action Research. Shawnee Mission East, Overland Park, KS.
- Ihunnah, D. (2003). Promoting the Integration of Vocational and Academic Skills Using the Principles of the Let Me Learn Model: A Case Study of Transformational Leadership. Non-published dissertation. <http://www.letmelearn.org/research>.
- Johnston, C. (1994b, September). The interactive learning model. Paper presented at the meeting of the British Education Research Association, Oxford University, Queen Anne's College, Oxford, UK.
- Johnston, C. (1996). Unlocking the will to learn. Thousand Oaks, CA: Corwin Press.
- Johnston, C. (1997). Using the Learning Combination Inventory. Educational Leadership, 55(4), 78-82.
- Johnston, C., & Dainton, G. (1997). The learning combination inventory (Manual). Thousand Oaks, CA: Corwin.
- Johnston, C. (1998). Using the Learning Combination Inventory. 55,4. December/January, pp.78-82
- Johnston, C., & Dainton, G. (2005) The learning connections inventory (Manual). Turnersville, NJ: Learning Connections Resources.
- Johnston, C., & Johnston, J. (1997). Understanding and using the child's will to learn: A longitudinal study. Paper presented at the European Conference on Educational Research, Frankfurt, Germany.
- Johnston, C. and Johnston, J., (1998). Achieving staff development through understanding the learner. British Journal of In-service Education, 24, 1.
- Johnston, C. (1998). Let me learn. Thousand Oaks, CA: Corwin Press.
- Johnston, C. (2002) Implementing the Let Me Learn Process in K-12. Turnersville, NJ: Learning Connections Resources.
- Johnston, C. (2005). Keynote: "Communicating from the inside out." National Writing Conference, Malta, September 16.
- Johnston, C. (2006). "The Educational Maze." In Understanding Children and Youth at Risk. In Understanding Children and Youth at Risk. Ed. By C. Borg and C. Calleja. Media Centre Publications, Mlt.

- Kottkamp, R. & R. Silverberg. (2006). Reconceptualizing Students At Risk: Teacher Assumptions about the Problematic Learning. In Understanding Children and Youth at Risk. Ed. By C. Borg and C. Calleja. Media Centre Publications, Mlt.
- Marcellino, P. (2000). Learning to become a team: A case study of action research in a graduate business management course. Unpublished dissertation. Hofstra University. <http://www.letmelearn.org/research>.
- McLaughlin, J. (1998). "Applying the Let Me Learn Process: An Administrator's Experience." In Let Me Learn. Thousand Oaks: Corwin Press.
- McSweeney, R. T. (2005). Merging cognitive and instructional theories: Implementation of an advanced learning system in secondary mathematics. Unpublished dissertation. Hofstra University. <http://www.letmelearn.org/research>.
- Nichols, J. (2002). "Using the LCI to Connect Teaching Methods with Student Learning Strategies". Action Research. Shawnee Mission East, Overland Park, KS.
- Osterman, K. & Kottkamp, R. (2004). Reflective practice for educators: Professional development to improve student learning. Second Edition. Thousand Oaks, CA: Corwin.
- Pearle, K. (2001). "Metacognition as vehicle for organizational change: How 'thinking about thinking' and intentional learning break the mold of 'heroic' teaching in higher education." <http://www.letmelearn.org/research>.
- Silverberg, R. (2002). From marginalization to relational space: A descriptive phenomenological study of teachers who changed their assumptions and beliefs about problematic students. Unpublished dissertation. Hofstra University. <http://www.letmelearn.org/research>.
- Zammit, P. (2001). Building Supervisory Capital through Understanding Your Personnel's Learning Processes. St. Paul's Bay, Malta, July 21-23.